Description

This code used to work in Tiki up to version 12.x, and it was used in doc.t.o pages:

```

It was documented here:

http://themes.tiki.org/Floated+box+demo#Three_columns

Workaround, use Plugin SPLIT.

Instances of this div class in wiki text etc. should be replaced by Bootstrap grid divs, IMO. There's no point in having Tiki-specific layout divs now.

Gary, would you be so kind to provide the equivalent syntax somewhere for those of us with almost no knowledge of Bootstrap grid divs?

And a note in <http://doc.tiki.org/Tiki13#Upgrade> would be probably appropriate, I guess.

Thanks for your time and sharing your knowledge.
