Description

2015-07-30 fixed by Rodrigo

2015-07-15: with latest svn up with Rodrigo's fixes, "Undefined index" notices are gone, but the files are still not backed up. TRIM should look in database to find the paths, fetch the data, and indicate the info in manifest.txt

TRIM's backup solution is really nice as is checks where the files are stored on disks and fetches them, which is great when these files are stored outside the web directory (which is good practice). However, this feature is currently broken because of an "Undefined index" notice

Testing running TRIM on LXLE 12.x (based on Ubuntu 12.04 LTS)

Should be fixed after the commit below. May I close this ticket?
