Description
    The tooltip info for site users such as page or post authors incorrectly reports the "last login" information as "never logged in". We can see this now at the Tiki project sites, and I'm seeing it at a Tiki 14 site also.

    Apart from not being factually accurate, it probably doesn't make a good impression for the software to indicate that content is being authored by people who've never logged in.

Hi Gary
I marked this as a duplicate of wish5802 but if you have a non-intertiki example of it then maybe you can recreate it on a show instance? I've tried locally and on other tiki servers but without success.

Thanks 🌐

I didn't notice 5802 when I submitted this report, but I am seeing the problem at a non-intertiki Tiki 14 site. I'll close this report since it's a duplicate.

Mystery solved: Preference feature community mouseover lastlogin must be enabled (Preference name: feature_community_mouseover_lastlogin)

I will try to improve the code to not to show that information when the preference is disabled instead of showing the misleading info...
