Description
There are some entries in the forum, reporting that import into calendar failed. I never found any comment about a bug, or a solution. I tried with Tiki 15.0. The error message was: "The file has incorrect syntax or is not a CSV file"
I located the point where the message is issued in calendarlib.php and changed the appropriate check there:

old:

```php
if ($fields === false || !array_search('name', $fields)){

new:

```php
if (($fields === false) || (array_search('name', $fields) === false)) {

With this workaround, I can import CSV into calendars

I think that calendars are among the most important features that make the difference between a wiki and a groupware platform.

Can you please commit it yourself, please?
See this: https://dev.tiki.org/Commit you'll how you can request commit access, and join the effort to make tiki better over time. Thanks! 😊

Xavier,
with the experience of many IT projects, I know that a newcomer with so little knowledge of the complex system, should not touch anything. I hope I'll find time to learn more details in the future.

Thanks, bfw25, for your caution.
In addition, read the Tiki Model of software development (like the Wikipedia of the web CMS's):
