one of the above documented features should work.... are any regression tests done before doing new releases? ugh... ad hoc testing makes software quality degrade you know!

I implore the team to stop adding features to TikiWiki without making sure they don't break the most trivially basic functionality first. No body wants another kitchen sink in a house that's falling apart 😞

Hi signal3

Can you please reproduce the issue in a show.tiki.org instance, so that it's easier to check whether there is some configuration problem in the setup of a bug in the code?

Thanks!

signal3 03 Aug 16 01:40 GMT-0000

I'm most likely going to switch to Typo3.

Xavier de Pedro 03 Aug 16 09:25 GMT-0000

Ok, as you wish, of course, get whatever best suits your needs and constraints.

If you do move to typo3, would you be so kind to provide some more information here, if you find anything missing or needing an update:

<https://tiki.org/Tiki+vs+Typo3>

so that your feedback helps other users considering to follow your route (or not)?

Thanks

Sure thing Xavier... I've updated the page you reference with a new bullet at the top of the "different" section; please review.

thanks, done
