make plugin pivottable look and feel (3rd party css) adapt to currently chosen theme style
See it explained in the following screencast:

Solution

This is done now, in trunk commit r60069. The pivot.css file is replicated and pertinent values replaced with variables in a new pivot-tiki.less. These get default values from tiki-variables.less, which themes can override with their style sheets. pivot-tiki.less can probably be reduced in size, and some jquery-ui elements aren't completely styled; also some themes have special rules for buttons etc that aren't reflected yet.

Update: Thanks Gary, tested and working nicely enough (Way better than before), so closing this task for now, as this is enough for the time being for our clients, at least. If anyone needs more tweaking, they'll reopen the bug/wish, or create a new one, etc. Thanks heaps (and Marc).
