Description

It is rare that editors are able to edit and save a single session to create, improve or edit a Wiki page.

In some case you even start something and add relevant information for the session (Describe the change you made) or you forgot to add it. 😊

It would be useful to:

1. To able to edit the history session description
2. To have a way to consolidate editing sessions (grouping them)
 1. Be able to name and edit the sessions (group) description independently with the single session description

Beside the basic we can have a bit of improvement (permissions + options) that would

- Allow super users (Admin or Editors) to use the new feature on all sessions.
- Allow the contributors to use the feature only on his own sessions.
- Contributors can edit history sessions for the same day/time duration sessions.
