Description

Map icons for geolocated wiki pages do not function in Tiki17 when browsing with Google Chrome and Vivaldi.

Using this syntax:

{map controls="controls,search_location,scale,navigation,levels,layers," center="-32.64608860015869,14.315483732934796,3" popupstyle="dialogue" tooltips="y"}
!!!List of geolocated pages {LIST()} {filter type="wiki page"} {filter content="y"
field=geo_located} {LIST}

And in properties of wiki page, geolocation is assigned, icons show up well with Mozilla and Edge. While using Google Chrome or lastly Vivaldi (unsupported I know) the map icons are small blue circles, and when clicked on they do not activate link back to wiki page.

Show instance is created

I was not able to access show instance using Chrome, perhaps some one can, I do have a map with a wiki page geolocated on the home page of the show instance. Thank you for looking into this.

I check the instance with Chrome and was able to see the map icon (look like a red diamond). Also clicking on it brought up the link for the wiki page.

Didnt test with Vivaldi.

I agree, hmmm, fake news then! I'll close this, thanks for bringing this back up Benoit!
