Description
I wish a perspective session (when switched into a perspective) didn't expire so soon. I need to re-activate the perspective view several times a day when logged in onto a site (avan.tech). I dunno the precise time set to expire the session for perspectives but it would be nice to keep it at least for one day but optionally to have it configurable (like we have for the remember me session for example). Presumably it is a cookie which expires too soon and returns user to the default perspective.

Thanks!
