It is because of the redirects on tiki.org. We talked about it with Oliver many times iirc...

It's something to do with the perspectives code because the articles are in the "info" perspective and not in the default "community" one.

One more reason why it was a bad idea to merge info into tiki.org sigh

It would be better if tiki.org was the default theme and "community" was a perspective instead I think... Or having tiki.org (instead of info.tiki.org) still as a separate server but community.tiki.org subdomain on different Tik?.

The reasons are known... .'

I propose to think of a fix or to evaluate how we can change things.

It really doesn't look good that we are not able to have a solution for such on our own Tiki.

... Not to mention extra work for the few hands we have.

I wonder if the perspectives code (another LPH mystery) could be improved somehow to not to be doing that or if it is inevitable to make it work...

Yes, good idea to fix. But how?
