Headings in included pages end collapsible sections in parent page

Since Tiki 19, a collapsible section (generated with a heading that starts with a minus or plus sign, as documented) effectively ends at the first heading of the same level or above in the pages it includes (with the INCLUDE plugin).

For example, if page Parent has

!Section 1
Direct content

!+Collapsed section
Direct content
{include page="Help"}

! Last section
Direct content
```

...while page Help has

the following source
```
...then the "For Support Please Contact" section always shows, regardless of the toggle control's state. Clicking on "+" only reveals "Direct content".

I am categorizing this ticket in Bug::Regression because this is a regression, but this is arguably not a bug.

This issue is a regression from r66644 and therefore affects Tiki 19. That commit essentially reverted r48937 (2013-12-03, on the Tiki 12 branch), so Tiki 11 and before also have the same issue.

Note that this is the second back-and-forth on this, after r29321 was reverted by r33993.

Solution
Tiki never had any code to deal with this issue. Versions 12 to 18 were not affected by chance. Relevant code is in parse_data_process_maketoc(),

around line 2598
$aclose = '<a id="flipper' . $thisid . '" class="link" href="#"
onclick="flipWithSign(\'\' . $thisid . '\'); return false;">[' . ($divstate == '-' ? '+' : '-' ) . ']'; $aclose2 = '';
$headerlib = TikiLib::lib('header');
$headerlib->add_jq_onready("setheadingstate('$thisid');");
array_unshift($divdepth, $hdrlevel);
```

and then

around line 2568
// Close lower level divs if opened for (; current($divdepth) >= $hdrlevel; array_shift($divdepth)) { $data .= '';
}
```

Workaround
Enabling the INCLUDE plugin's parse_included_page parameter avoids this issue.
