Description
   Some work colleagues are testing tiki for their own department. They did setup their test tiki with tiki18 and full wysiwyg editor as the main editor in wiki pages, using wiki syntax.
   When they open the page for edition, and they click on the help icon, the popup help shows up. they select the tab for plugins, and when clicking at the icon of a plugin shows nothing (no plugin helper popup is shown).
   This usability bug might be critical for them (they seem to be comparing Tiki with other professional wikis out there).

   Some js bug maybe somewhere?

   I'll try to reproduce in a show.t.o instance.
   For some reason, I can't reproduce it yet:
   http://xavi-9794-7146.show2.tikiwiki.org/tiki-editpage.php?page=foo
   u: admin
   p: 12345

   I'll adapt that page to the same content that produces the issue in the tiki behind our intranet at work. in the mean time, leaving as "pending" and with tag "worksforme"
