Description

When changing a wiki structure with drag and drop in tiki-edit_structure.php, the 'save' button doesn't appear as it does in Tiki 18/19.

It's keeps being hidden by css with display:none, beside that it also doesn't work; it will not save the changes.

Please see as showed here, it's possible to drag a new page in to the structure but there is no save button.

Workaround

Instead of going to the structure menu, go to a random page in the concerning structure and click on the structure icon.

It will lead you to: https://website/tiki-edit_structure.php?page_ref_id=XX&page=PAGENAME, and on this page the save button just works as expected!

Tested on doc.tiki.org, same issue.

Possible fix (at the very least the save button appears again)
