Description

Hi,

while I experimented with linking cart products to Wiki pages and vice versa (cf the tiki.org question I posted "How to link cart products and wiki pages?") something very strange happened.

A couple of products vanished from cart products. Before I started my experiments, I had 13 tracker items, all of them listed on cart products.

Now there are only 10 of them left! On cart products. In the tracker they are still there.

At first I thought, because I edited as admin, I might somehow have screwed up some rights, although I didn't change any. Then I saw that the tracker items I worked on are among those who remain. Four other items disappeared that I did not even touch.

As I wrote above, they are still in the tracker, so it is a miracle to me why they are not displayed. And yes, I also looked at the second page of cart products (limit is set to 9). So at the moment this looks like a bug to me. Could turn out it is something else, or even an error on my side, but don't see any.

The only right that I have touched over the past days was that I allowed anonymous to use Custom Search Tpl as a template, to get rid of the annoying error messages that only anonymous users got (no right to use this page as a smarty template).

Thanks for help

Rebuilding the search index helped. All 13 products are visible again. But how could these minor edits on two products confuse the search index so deeply that it "lost" three products, and needed rebuilding?
