Description

In my tiki installation I've enabled i18n plugin in order to be able to handle gracefully translations; however, since in my enterprise there is a main language and all new pages will surely be created in that very language, I'd like to avoid to have to select the page language every time I create a new page (it is considered a waste of time).

In particular I think an option could be added that, If enabled, causes new pages to have the user's language as page language.

Thank you for your attention

+1 from me, i've had this on my list for ages where we have a single language site but i18n enabled for text changes (so `en` to `en`) but having to choose English for every new page is annoying, but your case shows it should be an option regardless of how many languages are available. I'll see what i can do for the next release of 21.x.
Thanks!

Hi,
has been there any news on this topic? 😊

Jonny Bradley 03 Nov 20 10:58 GMT-0000

Sorry no, still just a wish for me too 😊
