Description
It started when I activated user tasks. I set up a couple of test tasks to myself (admin), in order to finish the incomplete translation.

When I wanted to accept one of the tasks I gave myself, I unexpectedly ran into an error that was erroneus... The error claimed that tasks need to have a title of at least three characters. But it had a title of four characters. Below the error message was an edit dialog, where the title was completely blank.

I then entered a new title and saved - and now the entirety of all tasks (they were three) are gone.

And what's worse: I cannot create new tasks anymore! I get the dialog and can enter all the stuff, but when I save, the UI insists that there are no tasks. I also checked that I include tasks that were done or deleted (had both), but still "no tasks".

Update: Upon a page reload, clicking all checkboxes and "update" all tasks have reappeared. I can also enter new tasks. But the error remains that I cannot accecpt a task with four character title because titles must have "at least three". I'll make screenshots.

Update: The length of the title doesn't change anything. I wanted to see if this is just a "off by one" error, and created a "very long title. This is really a very long title.". And when I wanted to accept it, I got the same error message, that a title must have "at least three" characters... So accepting tasks isn't possible at all.

It is also impossible to deny a task...
