- ✕ Update Tiki importer to support current MediaWiki XML spec

Description

I tried to import a mediawiki 1.31 and 1.35

I get the error message, the xml schema is not supported by tiki 22.0

The current spec for the XML format is here: <https://www.mediawiki.org/xml/export-0.11.xsd>

I tried to put the xsd in lib path from the importer, changed the filename to match the other and add an entry in the file tikiimporter_wiki_mediawiki.php "case '0.11':"
but i'm not an programmer and it doesn't work.

I followed this <https://sourceforge.net/p/tikiwiki/code/65119>

Yes, sadly our importer is quite old and not well maintained, but the more wishes there are here the more likely it is someone will have a go and at least evaluate how much work needs doing...

Hi Folks,

Has there been any updates in this area? My company would considering sponsoring the work, if that is something that is welcomed in this community.

Kindest regards,

Sam

Hi @Sam Bromley

Thank you for the offer. Yes, it's very much welcomed.

It will need a modernization for Tiki Flavored Markdown (another project that got some sponsorship).

I will write to you in private.

Thanks again.

@Sam Bromley: Thank you for your sponsorship here. We'll start work on it soon, and backport to 25x and 24x

@Arndt: Thank you for reporting this, and I hope you'll be a tester.

Special thanks to Whitecap Scientific Corporation for sponsoring this work.

Tiki is fully Open Source, and the activity level is high because clients fund work, which then becomes available to all.
