Xavi,

I added you to keep informed here as well (same as Bernards issue just for 21x) because it seems that Show2 has some issues. Yesterday I created a new instance (see above) but than after spending an hour or two manually changing many configs (since YAML import breaks the site, see other post for notes) it also stopped working and I no longer have access. Can you please take a look when you have a chance?

thanks,

Mike

p.s. it's a very good thing I didn't write this yesterday, and instead chose to calm down and get back to this later, otherwise this post would have needed to be heavily censored.

Hi Mike. There seems to be some issue in the configuration of show2.t.o. apache instances, as if some oldish apache 2.2 configuration was being used, instead of apache 2.4 rules (and that would bge the reason of these "access_compart:error" messages below).

If you don't use the rewrite rules (short urls) apache show instance shows up (even if those error messages are recorded in the server, indicating that something else might need fixing in the configuration of apache).

Example:

I hope Jean-marc could have a look Jean-Marc Libs ?
