Description

At <https://tiki.org/Community> I see the following error:

"Data too long for column content..."

- It usually happen the first time I land on the page in the day
- If I reload it is gone
- It happen also on Next (signalled already)
- I see it on Mac OS Safari (not sure it is related)

See Oliver comments about cause.

This is the entry point for someone wishing to know more about Tiki Community, therefor it is important to fix it.

I think this is also "unimportant" stuff, like logging what is happening on tw.o. When stuff like that happens, it should never get displayed to the user.

Afaik this comes from the conversion to the longer utf-format where it used up like 4 bytes instead of 2 per character. Fields were not properly resized.

Maybe if you think back, I have complained several times back then that the is was broken and that I had to manually adjust fields so the content fits in.
