Description

On a Tiki24 freshly updated it is possible to create pages with an illegal name as set on Tiki:

Invalid page name

The page name specified contains unallowed characters. It will not be possible to save the page until those are removed: /?#[ ]@$&+;=<>

Using Structure to create a page bypass the check and once created the page exist but is not viewable or editable and structure cannot be modified (impossible to move the elements in the structure).

Reproduced in the show instance, check the last page name of this structure.

Solution

Structure should be allowed to create a page that is not allowed in Tiki.

Still a problem one year later (fresh Tiki25).

Only by editing the page name in the database the user can overcome the issue.
