Description
toggle_zone left btn btn-xs btn-info
I have attached a screen shot, the positioning was OK in 25.2 but in 25.3 it is covering some of the Module Title Text.

I don't have a Tiki 25.3 installation specifically, but I am checking this in the current state of branch 25, which I would expect to be equivalent. There's quite a difference, though, as my screenshot shows. The toggle buttons here have much less padding, which helps prevent the overlap, and there is more spacing between the toggle button and the top of the modules. I downloaded the most recent quartz.css from GitLab and uploaded it here as an attachment. Could you unzip it and put it in your themes/quartz/css/ directory (maybe first renaming the quartz.css that's already there to quartz-25-3.css or something to be able to go back to it if necessary)?
