Description

When Tiki is not completely set up and composer (vendor_bundled libs) not ready, Tiki shows only raw plain-text message when you access pages like tiki-admin.php or tiki-listpages.php

It shows only:

"Your Tiki is not completely installed because Composer has not been run to fetch package dependencies. You need to run 'sh setup.sh' from the command line. See <https://doc.tiki.org/Composer> for details."

It would be better if it used ~~default Tiki UI / theme~~ some HTML + CSS UI displaying the message in a nicer way.

@luciash d' being ☐ I agree it should be nicer but if dependencies are not there, Bootstrap is not there, and thus, "default Tiki UI / theme" is not possible.

True. Thanks for pointing that out @Marc Laporte!
